

Outfox MPOX

Second dose now available

Mpox is viral infection that spreads through close physical contact, including sex. Anyone can get the virus, but right now it's sexually active gay, bisexual, and men who have sex with men (cis and trans).

Symptoms can include a rash, fever, chills, headache and muscle aches. The virus isn't life threatening but it can be painful, with symptoms lasting for several weeks.

The vaccine provides excellent protection against mpox and vaccination sites throughout Melbourne are now offering both first and second doses. Outfox mpox and get your vaccination today.
