

MPOX Counselling and Support Services

Whether you are diagnosed with mpox or a close contact of someone with the virus, the experience can be traumatic. You may feel anxious about the way you look, the possibility of scarring, or the symptoms you have from the infection. You may be fearful of being outed or having your lifestyle made public. You may relive past health or discrimination trauma. To help minimise the risk of this, here is a list of organisations and services that are inclusive and respectful of LGBTI people and the men who have sex with men community.
